

Interpretation Panels Final Report May 2025

Glyn's Garden now has a series of good quality interpretation panels to help visitors understand the habitats that have been created. They have already been much enjoyed at various open days and visits we have had this year. We have received a lot of positive feedback about them.

The panels were sited and put in place by members of the Community Payback Team as part of their volunteering. They really enjoyed this work and took a pride in the panels being used by visitors. We also have a sign outside the project to introduce it to visitors and passers by, increasing our profile within the community.
